

SPEAKER: If they already have a stent placed, yes, they belong to this very high-risk patient group. So according to the guidelines, the LDL should be below 70. If it's not below 70, then you should do some additional modification of therapies, which might be increase in statin dose, adding ezetimibe, or if this is not sufficient, put them on PCSK9 inhibitor in addition to continuing the statin therapy.