

SPEAKER: Well the patients who were under treated, if you wish, in a way or not getting the drugs the way they should be, in my view, are the ones who have recurrent events. They should have, by default, a further lowering of LDL, and the people with peripheral vascular disease. Those are very, very high risk, and they are currently under treated, dramatically under treated, with any lipid lowering drug.